

MOULDERS' STRIKE IS NOW ACUTE

International Executive Officer Here Now in Full Charge.

EMPLOYERS STAND FIRM

LONG AND BITTER FIGHT IS EXPECTED.

The Moulders' union, which now has a strike on its hands, held a special meeting last evening and received John Hartman of Seattle, an officer of their international union who has come here to take charge of the strike. Mr. Hartman is one of a committee of seven of the governing board which takes charge of all troubles, and endeavors to assist the local unions in carrying them to a successful conclusion. The causes and all matters connected with the present dispute were laid before Mr. Hartman, who will remain here some days and look into the strike.

The union then in a body visited the Utah Federation of Labor, which was meeting in the same building, and laid the results of their deliberations before that body. Mr. Hartman was introduced and made a strong address on the condition of organized labor generally. He strongly condemned anything in the nature of a compromise on the open shop. He claimed that it was responsible for most of the troubles of labor all over the country. He assured the Utah Federation that in its present dispute the Salt Lake moulders had the full official, moral and financial support of the international union. As far as he had looked into the situation, the local men were perfectly right in their contention and the international union, for which he had authority to speak, would see them through.

Employers Not Cordial.

The arbitration committee of the federation reported that they had visited the employers and had not met with a cordial response from some who had given them to understand that there was nothing to arbitrate and that the matter was simply locked out.

The moulders' committee reported that they were in a better position than at any time during the lockout. Since the endorsement of the international body all the workmen who had remained in the shops had come out and cast their lot with the strikers. There is now, they said, not a single traitor in their ranks.

The Utah Federation promised all the assistance in its power and continued the arbitration committee.

The strike has now assumed an acute phase, the reports stated. It was admitted that the sign of the yielding on the part of the employers and that a long and bitter fight would result. The strikers are now on full strike pay.

REFEE PLANS BADLY MIXED

Women Take Refugees to Homes While Committee Makes Arrangements.

STATEMENT FROM PITT

MISTAKE OF HEADS AND NOT OF HEARTS.

Plans of the transportation committee were badly disarranged yesterday afternoon by a number of women, who no doubt acted with the best of intentions and with no thought of interfering with the work of the committee that has charge of clothing and feeding the San Francisco refugees who pass through Salt Lake. For this reason Chairman Tom Pitt of the committee asks that no person will in the future make any arrangements for feeding the travelers in this city without first consulting with the members of the committee.

"We made arrangements to feed seventy-five refugees last evening at the Esplanade cafe, and when the supper hour arrived not more than six persons showed up," said Chairman Pitt last night. "The committee must pay for the seventy-five meals, however. The reason this situation arose was because several women visited the Denver & Rio Grande depot yesterday afternoon and took most of the refugees to homes in the city, where they were fed. These women undoubtedly acted with the best of intentions, but nevertheless they interfered with the plans of the committee."

No Objection to Assistance.

"I respectfully request that while the relief work is going on in Salt Lake for persons who are in need of food or himself to make arrangements to feed the refugees without first consulting the members of our organization. We have reduced the work to a system of taking care of the refugees and the assistance of citizens of Salt Lake, and invite their assistance, but a repetition of the occurrence of today should not take place."

Another complication that arose in this connection was the street car situation. The committee made arrangements with the Utah Light & Railway company to have cars at the Rio Grande depot to carry the refugees up town for their supper. When only a few of the destitute people showed up the situation became embarrassing to the members of the committee.

Still Sending Supplies.

Supplies are still being sent to San Francisco from Salt Lake, but the matter of the clothing contributed is held here to be distributed among the refugees that stop in this city. Two cars of potatoes, one of lime and a car containing drugs, fifteen barrels of carpenter's tools, and a car of camp stoves were forwarded last night. Two cars of potatoes and two cars of lime will be shipped today.

Some of the women of Salt Lake are still contributing bread to the transportation committee requests that no bread be sent in, as word has been received from San Francisco that the Golden Bread is being baked in the city.

There has been no lessening of the contribution of supplies. The office of The Herald was again deluged yesterday with bundles of clothing. Dr. Samuel H. Allen, for the English Speaking company, sent $50 worth of merchandise to the Commercial club yesterday, and contributions were received from other sources.

Money Is Needed.

Money is needed in San Francisco. The following telegram from James D. Pihlar, chairman of the relief organization in the former Pacific coast metropolis, explains itself:

"Charles Quigley, president Commercial club—Replying further to your letter of April 19, funds are required most to assist in reorganization more to resumption of normal life. Remittances should be to finance committee."

The executive committee will hold a meeting today to consult about sending money to the finance committee at San Francisco.

There is no prospect of the relief work letting up in Salt Lake inside of a week. By that time it is believed the majority of the refugees will have left San Francisco and only a few stragglers will be passing through Salt Lake. However, there is much work to be done before this situation is reached, and the transportation committee is preparing to put in another strenuous week. The citizens of Salt Lake are asked to keep their eyes open for the time comes for them to stop, and the sufferers must be taken care of, even if the work takes a month for its completion.

HOW THE HIGH SCHOOL IS HELPING

No. "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over shall men give unto you again. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again."—Lukas 6, 38.

SAN FRANCISCO RELIEF FUND OF THE SALT LAKE HIGH SCHOOL.

This is to Certify, that (Name) has contributed 25 cents to relieve the sufferings of those rendered destitute by earthquake and fire at San Francisco, April 18, 1906.

SOUVENIR RECEIPT

When the news of the San Francisco disaster came, teachers and pupils of the High school contributed what money they could afford. Then they assisted in the collection and forwarding of bread. From that institution has now come a unique method of raising funds. It consists of a souvenir receipt for 25 cents. The receipts are in coupon form and twenty coupons are bound together in each book. One thousand of these books have been printed, and if they are all sold, the proceeds will amount to $5,000. A facsimile of one of coupons is given herewith.

AMUSEMENTS

An audience that evidenced the presence of other attractions in the city listened with delight to the presentation of Hall Calne's masterpiece by the Saltpolis company last night. The dramatization leaves little to be desired in its summary and portends a great piece of work. There is enough of clever repartee to keep the smile near the teeth throughout the play, which is as sweet and wholesome a bit of work as the stage ever held.

Miss Lilian Lawrence as Glory Quayle won her audience in the prologue, and to the fall of the curtain her artistic work was followed with delight. Her interpretation of sweet Glory Quayle is delightful. The work of John Storm in the character of John Storm was capital. The serious purpose and unrestrained enthusiasm of the young churchman with his broad social sympathies and devotion to idea were splendidly expressed by him.

Burt L. King as Lord Ure, Harry Byers as Archdeacon Uraethy, Mrs. Byers as Mrs. Cullender, the bonnie, heartsome, witty Scotch body, and Sterling Whitney as Horatio Drake, are all worthy of commendation, their careful work helping to the making of an altogether charming play.

It is difficult to praise too highly the excellence of the play as rendered last evening, and if the leading man and woman gave a delightful interpretation of the characters assumed, the whole of the cast played up so well as to send every one away delighted with the evening's presentation of a stirring and uplifting play.

Those who love a clean, strong, wholesome drama, exquisitely staged and presented by players wholly understanding the characters assigned to them, will do so to patronize the Saltpolis company which presents "The Christian" again this afternoon and tonight.

To brighten a few hours with mirthful jokes, sweet music, beautiful stage settings, and pretty girls is the purpose of the management of the "Cherry Blossoms" company, which will bring a week's engagement to the city this afternoon. The company this year is equipped in a very lavish manner in the way of talent, scenery, costumes and electrical effects. The leading members of the company are Sam Rice, George Johnson, Ed. Smith, Charles H. Smith, and brothers, Miss Agnes Maher, Miss Fanny Van and others, all appearing in the most successful manner. In addition to the principals already mentioned there is a large corps of supporting players. Matinees will be given on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

One of the best bits of the season will be given twice today at the Orpheum. The audiences throughout the week have enjoyed the performance much.

The concluding performances of "The King of Detectives," a genuine thriller of actual merit and well put on, will be given this afternoon and evening at the Grand.

OQUIRRH SCHOOL EXHIBIT

Patrons and Friends Are Shown

What Is Being Done.

Patrons and friends of the Oquirrh school were guests at the school last evening, when an entertainment indicative of the regular work was given. The two corridors were hung with the work of the pupils in all subjects taught, embracing manual training, sewing, chart work and all subjects comprised in the regular course of study. The programme began with the reading of the beginners' grade, under Miss Elaine Lane, especially prepared for the occasion. The work shown was characteristic of the growth through the eight years of grammar school life.

The reading by the class which is to finish the year was "Julius Caesar," and those who have heard reading by Miss Lizbeth Quattrone's classes need not be told to what advantage the pupils showed before their audience. The old fashioned spelling match between the two rooms of the fifth grade was an interesting feature. The winner in the contest was Room 10.

The work on the walls was all of such order that it would be impossible to do justice to it. Some stand out as so excellent, however, that it must be mentioned. The work of the history classes, bound in neat folios, is especially noteworthy. The subject treated is shown in its location and environment by well-drawn colored maps. Still other articles on historical or geographical subjects are illustrated with cuttings from periodicals. The drawings are from poses by pupils, a noticeable group being of a marble game. There is a silk chart showing careful, conscientious work on the part of both pupils and teachers.

The sewing of the girls is of the highest quality, one interesting display being the graduating outfit of one young girl. Fine handiwork, skillful planning and neatness of finish combine to make this exhibit one of great interest to the women visitors.

No less commendable is the work of the boys as shown in the manual training programme last evening. Included several fine chorus numbers from the different rooms and closed with a timely talk on education by Superintendent D. H. Christensen.

MOUNT'S HOME INDUSTRY PICKLES ARE WINNING THEIR OWN WAY TO POPULARITY.

Such quality is bound to win.

UNION MEN WILL OPEN BUREAU

Plan Adopted to Provide Work for Unemployed, Whether Union or Not.

MAY GO INTO POLITICS

UTAH FEDERATION PLEDGED TO SUPPORT GOMPERS.

The state Federation of Labor will establish a free employment bureau. This was definitely decided upon last night at the regular meeting in Labor hall. Details are to be worked out and the bureau put in operation as soon as possible. The majority of the unions in the Federation had reported in favor of the idea and the matter was made the special order of business for the evening.

President J. N. Spalding presided at the meeting, which was well attended. The establishment of a free employment bureau met with no opposition and it became a question of working out the details. To further this a committee of four was appointed, consisting of D. J. Allen, Richard Schaefer, J. T. Lavery and H. J. Walquist. This committee was instructed to at once visit the affiliated unions and ascertain their views as to how such an institution should be conducted.

As at present outlined, the idea is to have a permanent secretary who will keep an office open and deal with all applications for work. The bureau will be open to all union men or non-union, as well as to conduct an educational campaign in the interest of organized labor. The committee was instructed to begin its labors at once.

Plan Excursion Into Politics.

A communication from Samuel Gompers to the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, setting forth the results of a conference with President Roosevelt, and enclosing a copy of a petition which had been presented to the president, and the president of the senate and speaker of the house of representatives. The petition dealt with grievances of labor in connection with the abandonment of the eight-hour system on the Panama canal, and an alleged general tendency on the part of congress to ward legislation inimical to organized labor. It was signed by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, and by 100 international, national and local presidents of unions.

The communication set forth that if congress refused to take remedial legislation it was the duty of the national federation to go into politics on its own account and make its power felt. The political parties would be forced into recognition of the claims of labor.

After some discussion, on motion of J. T. Lavery a resolution passed unanimously endorsing the petition and pledging the fullest support of the Utah Federation to President Gompers and his associates.

A. T. Rogers received a letter from his sister, Miss R. E. Rogers, which stated that she is safe at the Merritt hotel in Oakland.

VISIT AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The committee appointed at the last session of the legislature to investigate the duplication of college work at the Agricultural college and the latter institution. Utah paid a visit to the college yesterday. A thorough canvass of the work and the number of students in the college classes was made. The name, address and age of every college student in the school was taken. While the names were being taken several of the members of the committee made addresses to the students.

NEED HELP FOR TWO MONTHS

General Passenger Agent Hooper of Rio Grande Tells of Conditions in Coast City.

General Passenger Agent S. K. Hooper of the Denver & Rio Grande passed through Salt Lake yesterday en route to his home in Denver from San Francisco, where he has been since the disaster. "San Francisco was the most isolated city in the United States a week after the quake," said Major Hooper yesterday. "I wrote twenty-five telegrams to different points, and but one of them has been received. With the wires down and the Southern Pacific temporarily disabled no word could be sent out and nothing from the outside world was brought in. The rush of refugees from San Francisco but perishes provisions are a waste. Persons who were unable to leave the city immediately after the roads were open are now hurrying to relatives and friends in eastern states. While I do not know whether or not able-bodied men are refused transportation from the ruined city, steps were being taken when I left to check indiscriminate distribution of transportation. There are thousands of people still in the city who will be entirely dependent upon the generosity of outsiders for two months yet at least. Too many supplies cannot be sent to San Francisco but perishes provisions are a waste. San Francisco is already filled with cars and whole trainloads are being held at near-by towns. Western roads are working as they never worked before to handle both passengers and freight cars has been pressed into service to haul supplies to San Francisco. The situation is a desperate one. The people living in the parks seem to be a hopeful, happy lot. They are thankful beyond words of the treatment accorded them by the people of the United States." Major Hooper left for Denver yesterday afternoon.

MAYOR VETOES CONTRACT

Thinks Kelsey Should Have a Finger in Building New Fire Station.

Mayor Ezra Thompson yesterday vetoed the contract awarded by the board of public works and ratified by the city council, providing for the construction of the No. 5 fire station by O. Chytraus for $3,000. The mayor has his veto on the failure of the contract to provide that the city engineer shall have charge of the work. The contract provides that the station shall be built under the direction of the city engineer and that the city engineer shall have charge of the work. The building inspector, and that these two officials shall approve all estimates and partial payments to be made while the building is under construction. The mayor holds that such duties should be performed by the city engineer, and that his "o. k." should be required on all partial estimates.

SPRING CATARRH.

F. C. Schramm Sells Hyomei Under Guarantee of Cure.

The changeable weather of Spring is directly responsible for the prevalence of catarrhal troubles in Salt Lake City at the present time. As a result F. C. Schramm had a larger sale for Hyomei the past week than ever before in the years that he has handled this reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

Unfailingly the ordinary remedies that have been used in catarrhal troubles there is no stomach dosing with Hyomei. It is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, comes with every outfit and its balsamic, antiseptic healing penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs, healing the irritated mucous membrane, and effecting a complete and permanent cure.

If there is a single catarrhal germ in the system, Hyomei will search it out, and absolutely destroy it, completely eradicating the trouble. The
